SUES EMERY FOR $5000 DAMAGES

Miss Daisy Powner of Indianapolis Files Breach of Promise Suit Against Local Man.

EMPLOYED BY TRACTION CO.

Plaintiff Avers That the Defendant Has Not Kept His Pledge to Marry Her.

Miss Daisy Powner of Indianapolis through her attorneys, Eikman & Ermston, also of Indianapolis, filed suit today in the circuit court against Oscar D. Emery of this city for breach of marriage contract and demands $5000 damages and all other proper relief.

In the complaint Miss Powner says that she promised to marry Emery and that the defendant in the suit on September 15, 1907, promised to marry her. She avers that it was then agreed between both of them that they should become man and wife, but that no definite date was fixed. She says that she wished to fix a definite date, but that he refused.

The plaintiff further says that she has remained single since that time and expected him to marry her. She declares she has always been ready to become his wife whenever he said the word. She says that since that date, September 15, 1907, she has not seen Emery and that he has failed to keep company with her although she has done nothing to change his feelings toward her.

The complaint states that on February 4th, 1905, Emery asked Miss Powner to become his wife and that she accepted. This according to the plaintiff was the beginning of their engagement. She says that since that time the defendant has met her in Indianapolis and in other cities over the State.

She states that again in September, 1907, their promise of marriage was renewed, but that since that time he has failed to keep company with her and has never written her one line of communication. She avers that she has always been in an unmarried state and that she has waited patiently for his return. As another complaint for damages she says that she is the mother of a child.

The complaint says that the plaintiff has been damaged to the amount of $5000 and asks the court for the proper relief. Oscar D. Emery, commonly known here as "Doc," is the head lineman for the I. & C. traction company. He has lived here since the traction line was built and has many friends.

EXTENSION OF THE SEWER

City Council Discusses Question in the Adjourned Session.

The extension of the sewer in West Fifth street under the Lake Erie & Western tracks, was the principal topic discussed at the adjourned session of the city council last night. Francis Brothers wish a sewer connection and the city sewer only extends to the end of the street which is at the Lake Erie tracks. The matter was not settled but referred to the city engineer who will make a special report at the meeting to be held tomorrow night.

Other matters of minor importance were discussed.

Siberia exported nearly 58,000 tons of butter last year, chiefly to Denmark, Germany and England.

WILLIAMS IN A CLOSE RACE

Mr. Williams received seventy-two votes, while his Republican opponent, Lewis Carr, received seventy-seven votes. The Republican majority is about one hundred fifty and the race made by Mr. Williams is considered an exceptionally good one.

SOCIOLOGIST TO PREACH SUNDAY

S. M. Cooper, Who Spoke at Men's Meeting to Occupy Main Street Christian Church Pulpit.

NOTED FOR GENEROUS GIFTS

In the absence of the Rev. R. W. Abberley, who is holding an evangelistic meeting in West Virginia, S. M. Cooper of Cincinnati will speak at the Main Street Christian church next Sunday morning. Mr. Cooper is a prominent business man of Cincinnati, who has a national reputation as a platform orator, especially on sociological subjects on which he is an expert. It will be remembered that he spoke a year ago at one of the Men's Big Meetings and made one of the greatest addresses of the series. Mr. Cooper is one of the leading men of the Christian church and noted for his large gifts to philan thropic and missionary enterprises. It will be a treat to Rushville people to hear him next Sunday morning, November 7.

At night the Anti-Saloon league will have a speaker from Indianapolis to occupy the pulpit.

WOMEN TO BEGIN WORK SATURDAY

Industrial School Will be Renewed at Salvation Army Church After a Vacation.

MUCH GOOD IS DONE THERE

The Industrial school will be started in the Salvation Army church Saturday afternoon. The school was stopped during the summer months to give both the pupils and the teachers a much needed vacation and the work will be begun now with vim and earnestness. It is hardly possible to estimate the good done by the teachers of the Industrial school. They work patiently with the children every Saturday afternoon, teaching them how to sew and perform many other duties. The work is not only helpful to them, but also provides them with clothes as they wear all that they make with their own hands.

BIG OFFICERS HERE.

J. D. Volz of Indianapolis, State deputy, and R. J. Bosworth of Winchester, District deputy of the Modern Woodmen lodge were here last night for the meeting of the local lodge.

"BURKE" WAS ON THE LEVEL THERE

Connersville Bank President Explains Dealings With Oscar Cochrane Formerly of Glenwood.

DEPOSITED CHECK FOR $4000

Which the American National of Indianapolis Paid Without Even a Single Objection.

The story in the Indianapolis Star regarding Oscar Cochrane, alias Horace Burk, formerly of Glenwood, who was arrested in New York for embezzlement, has aroused considerable interest in the western part of the county where the young man was well known, and in this city also, on account of his dealings with a local financial institution, says the Connersville News.

The News yesterday obtained an interview with G. C. Florea, President of the First National Bank, where "Burke" for a time maintained a large deposit.

"When Burke first came to this city, said Mr. Florea, "he visited the First National Bank and deposited a check with Cashier Tingley for $4100, drawn on the American National Bank of Indianapolis. He carried an American National pass book that showed him to have a credit there of about $7000. He was a stranger to Mr. Tingley and represented himself as Horace Burke, the name he signed to the check. That there might not be anything unusual about the transaction, he told Mr. Tingley that he expected to establish an automobile garage in this city, provided he found a suitable location. This was his reason given for moving a part of his account to Connersville. He also said that he would soon draw a check on the account to pay for an automobile he expected to purchase. Mr. Tingley told him that the check for $4100 would be placed to his credit, but that under no circumstances would checks on the same be honored until after the American National Bank at Indianapolis had paid the original check.

"The American National," said Mr. Florea, "paid the check without a murmur and later on Burke's check for an auto came in and was cashed by the local bank. The account with Burke was finally closed when he made a trip here and drew it out in person. He arrived after banking hours, but had previously phoned Mr. Tingley to have the money ready for him."

As far as the local bank officials are concerned, the fellow's transactions were perfectly legitimate and they had absolutely no reason to believe that he was other than what he represented himself to be. The American National Bank officials appear at fault in honoring Burke's check without knowing they had a depositor by that name.

NOTHING SAID ABOUT PEA

Report of Resignation Causes Much Favorable Comment, However.

At the special meeting of the city council last night nothing was said about the resignation of Policeman William Pea. The report that he had resigned caused considerable comment and the comment was favorable. It was even reported in the West part of the city yesterday that "they had been down for Bill Pea's badge before breakfast this morning." Mayor Cowing could not be reached for a statement on the situation today.

STAMPER WHITE'S BROTHER IS DEAD

Hamilton N. White, an Octogenarian, Passed Away at Home in Connersville.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD TODAY

Hamilton N. White, anoctogenarian, and brother of Stamper White of this county, died at his home in Connersville Tuesday evening. His illness came upon him gradually. He had not been well for several weeks, but yet was not seriously ill and was up most of the time. His condition became really serious only a few days ago and he sank rapidly.

Mr. White was a very deeply religious man. He had been a member of the M. E. church ever since his seventeenth year. He believed in carrying his religion into every act of his life, in making it a part of himself, and this he did.

The funeral was held at the Grand Avenue M. E. church in Connersville this afternoon. Rev. St. Clair, assisted by Rev. W. F. Smith and Rev. V. W. Tevis preached and burial was in the city cemetery.

COINCIDENCE IN THESE TWO VISITS

Two Aged Couples Married More Than Sixty Years Enjoy Day in This City.

AND THEY ARE RELATED TOO

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Daubenspeck of Union township were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Smith today, honoring their daughter, Mrs. Smith, who celebrated her sixtieth birthday. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Blacklidge were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ad Spivey, who live only a short distance from the Smith residence. And here's the remarkable thing about it. The Daubenspecks have been married about 62 years and the Blacklidge's have been married more than sixty years. Another remarkable thing—Herschel Daubenspeck is the husband of Mr. and Mrs. Blacklidge's daughter. Mr. Daubenspeck is 86 years old, his wife 81, Mr. Blacklidge 87 and his wife 84. The coincidence of the visit of the aged people was not known until Mr. Spivey and Mr. Smith happened to speak of it this morning.

Cornstarch, so much used in America for food, is not in demand in China, as the natives use for similar purposes the water in which they have boiled their rice—congee water. This liquid when cold sets into a thick, viscous and transparent jelly, which is colored, skeetened and eaten as Americans eat blancmange.

CITY WINS IN DAMAGE CASE

Judge Sparks Sustains Point Made by Defense That Plaintiff Did Not Give Notice.

SUIT FOR WOMAN'S INJURIES

Mrs. Emma Morrow Asked $5000 as Result of Accident Caused by Improvement in Streets.

The city of Rushville was the winner in a five thousand dollar damage case tried in the Shelby circuit court Wednesday. The Shelbyville Democrat says of the case:

The case was that of Morrow vs. the City of Rushville, in which the plaintiff demanded five thousand dollars for injuries received by her through the alleged negligence of employes of the city.

Mrs. Emma Morrow was driving a carriage along a Rushville street one night and ran into a rope which had been stretched across the street where some repairs were being made. The horse became unmanageable and Mrs. Morrow was thrown from the carriage and seriously injured. She filed her complaint in the Rush circuit court, but the case was venued to this county. A large number of witnesses were summoned here from Rushville and the hearing of the evidence and arguments in the case took up the entire day in the circuit court. Smith & Son, Rushville attorneys, and George Young, city attorney of Rushville, who represented the defendant, contended that the case should be dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff had not given the defendant notice of the injury within sixty days after the accident occurred. This point was taken into consideration by Judge Sparks and he dismissed the case at three-thirty o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

HAS A HABIT OF DESERTING WIFE

Consequently Mrs. William Trailer Asks the Court For Divorce From Her Husband.

FORMER RUSHVILLE PEOPLE

William Trailer has a habit of abandoning his wife and children about once every two years, according to a complaint filed by Mrs. Trailer, and she believes that the proper thing to do would be to get a divorce and then he could stay away, says the Shelbyville Republican. Trailer has lived in Rushville and Columbus and now lives in Indianapolis.

Through her attorneys she has filed a complaint. The couple was married April 17th, 1901, and the final separation occurred in July, last year. Three or four times previous to that time Trailer left home and did not return for some time. He would leave owing house rent and this would have to be paid by the wife. On one occasion before leaving town he mortgaged property belonging to Mrs. Trailer and her father, securing $36 on it.

He is also charged with cursing and abusing his wife and on a few occasions she had to take her children to her father's home to be cared for. The plaintiff asks that the judge compel the defendant to pay her $5 a week for keeping their children, Harold, Dorothy and Morris, and that she be given an absolute divorce.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA

They Clog the Pores—Only a Liquid Can Reach the Inner Skin.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin disease. But it has found that these salvès only clog the pores and can not penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the only standard liquid eczema cure, oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. After ten years of cure after cure, the world's leading skin specialists have accepted this as the true eczema cure.

We ourselves do not hesitate to recommend D. D. D. Prescription at $1.00 a bottle, but for the benefit of those who have never tried the prescription, we arranged with the D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special large trial bottle at 25 cents on a special offer now. This first bottle ought to convince every sufferer, and, at any rate, it will surely take away the itch at once.

TAMMANY IN A FRAME OF MIND

Dismal Reflections Over Tuesday's Defeat.

MAY DEMAND A NEW LEADER

For Some Time There Has Been Something Like a Smothered Revolution in the Ranks of the Braves, and Tuesday's Bitter Dose May Precipitate a Revolt Which Will Lead to Murphy's Deposition—Divided Responsibilities Have Led to Much Friction.

New York, Nov. 4.—Many and gloomy reflections are being made by Tammany men over Tuesday's defeat. For some time there has been something like a smothered revolution in Tammany. There have been practically three leaders; in fact, four—Mr. Murphy, Mr. Cohalan, the Tims, Big Tim and Little Tim Sullivan. No other leaders have been consulted, it was stated, on fundamentals. The city and county and borough tickets were parcelled out, or rather allotted by these four men. There has been a divided responsibility and this has resulted in much friction. The Tom Foley followers had been stirred to the depths by the refusal to name him for borough president. There was some little talk that eventually Supreme Court Justice Dowling would be considered the leader of Tammany, but the justice made it plain in has quick sentences that he was a supreme court justice and that no man living could get him to meddle with politics while on the bench. Then, too, the old report, which has been a constant hope for several years, that Richard Croker would return and take up the reins of leadership was brought out again. "Not for millions," said Mr. Croker at the Democratic club last evening. "Not for millions. I am too old. I couldn't stand the racket. I am going to Florida on Friday."

Mr. Croker, according to his intimates, has never quite understood the animosity of Mr. Murphy to him. Outwardly their relations have been all right, but Mr. Murphy, since he became leader of Tammany, according to these self-same intimates of Mr. Croker, has seized all opportunities to attempt to humiliate Mr. Croker, and it was Croker, it was recalled, who made Murphy district leader of the Eighteenth. Croker, it was added, has not understood either the unfriendly attitude of the Sullivans to him. So there is bad feeling all around. The Tammany bunch, Charles F. Murphy, Daniel F. Cohalan and the Sullivans—Big and Little Tim—will, in the opinion of those who understand the situation, starve to death politically unless Mayor Gaynor comes to their rescue. For four years after January 1, next, these Tammany men, who have been runn'ng the organization, will have no borough president of Manhattan and the Bronx upon whom to draw for sustenance for their followers. All told, Mayor Gaynor will have two score and more fine appointments, and these offices carry with them a couple of hundred and more places, but the majority of the 45,000 office holders in city departments of every description are under civil service.

THE FIGURES ON IT

Scientific Finding Regarding the Dangers of Cigarette Smoking.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 4.—In a lecture to Cornell students Professor Jenks said: "The evils of cigarette smoking from the physical side, as illustrated by careful investigations in a large eastern university during a period of nine years, were made clear. It was shown that nonusers of cigarettes gained physically about 25 per cent. more than cigarette smokers.

"The habit, especially in early years, leads to excesses in other directions that are even more deleterious. A similar effect seems to be felt on scholarship. As a rule, with of course individual exceptions, the all-round scholars of the highest attainments, like the all-round athletes of the highest grade, either abstain totally or are very temperate in the use of tobacco."

One Dry Spot in Westchester.

Whiteplains, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Although the followers of local option made a hard battle to make fourteen towns in Westchester county dry, the returns show that only one town in the county went "dry." This was Yorktown in the northern part of Westchester. Mount Pleasant, where John D. Rockefeller has a country estate, went in favor of the "wets" by about 400 plurality.

He Prepared for Death.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 4.—Peter G. Leist, fifty years old, was found dead in a chair at his residence on the Augusta road. Acute indigestion or heart failure is thought to have been the cause of death. An indication that Leist feared death would come soon was evidenced by the fact that he had written his will on the wall of the room in which he lived.

BROKE EVEN

Party Favors in Indiana About Equally Divided.

Indianapolis, Nov. 4.—That the Democrats and Republicans have practically broken even in Indiana is shown by complete returns from the city and town elections. Though the Democrats have elected mayors and town boards in the larger number of cities and towns, the Republicans either gained or retain possession of the more important cities of the state, the most important of Tuesday's acquisitions being Evansville, Ft. Wayne and Richmond. In each of these cities there was a distinct issue with the brewers and saloons, and the results are regarded as significant because that in all of them the brewers were confident of electing their tickets. The fact that the Republicans lost so many cities, though, is regarded as significant in the face of the fact that a new administration has gone into power and one with which the Republicans are generally satisfied, outside of the tariff enactment.

TIRED TO DEATH AND ARE READY TO QUIT

So Say the Members of Roosevelt's Party.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—According to E. W. Newman, who has just returned to Chicago from a tour through East Africa, over the same ground as that traversed by the former President, members of the party of Theodore Roosevelt on his hunting trip in Africa are tired to death and ready to quit. Mr. Newman met the Roosevelt party last July at Nairobi, British East Africa, and had a long talk with the former President and his hunting companions. Regret over criticism aroused in America by the slaughter of animals was expressed by Roosevelt, according to Newman. "I regret very much the criticism and claim of wanton slaughter of animals which I have heard has come from Americans," Roosevelt said, "but I have only been killing one specimen and no more except in the case of lions, a pest to humanity. In the case of the lions I have received the heartiest thanks of the people of the neighborhood in which I have killed the beasts. I am not a good shot," the famous hunter said to the Chicagoan, "but I shoot often."

"The people of the land are amazed at the energy of the former President," said Newman. "The individual members of his caravan have been marched to death and are anxious to quit."

HIGH SCHOOL STRIKE

Seniors at Cleveland Kick on Long Sessions and Rancid Butter.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 4.—Demanding single sessions and better lunches, over 200 boys and girls of the West Side high school went on a strike. The strikers, who were from the two upper classes, walked out in a body and the boys held a mass meeting on the public square, where Henry Roegge, a senior, addressed them. It was decided that none should return until single sessions were restored and better lunches provided.

The strike is the outgrowth of alleged poor service in the lunch rooms and the trouble has been brewing for some time. It is said many of the pupils have been compelled to wait for an hour and a half for lunch because of poor service. They declare the lunch they receive is poor and high priced. The butter, they say, is rancid.

Pickets were placed around the school and attempts were made to persuade others to strike. There is discontent in all of the schools of the city over the matter, and the strike promises to become general unless conditions are remedied.

HE TURNED HIS BACK

Iowa Officer Neglected to Keep Eye on Captured Burglars.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 4.—Patrick Hatton, city marshal of Carroll, was shot and killed by one of two robbers near Glidden, seven miles east of Carroll. Hatton had followed the robbers from Carroll, where they had entered a house. He had captured the men and while covering them with a revolver turned toward his team. Instantly one of the men shot him in the back. A posse of seventy-five men with shotguns and rifles formed an hour later and captured the robbers in a cornfield.

Wickersham for Supreme Court.

Washington, Nov. 4.—It is the understanding in Washington among men in a position to know that George W. Wickersham of New York, attorney general of the United States, will be appointed associate justice of the supreme court to succeed the late Rufus W. Peckham if he desires the office.

Mr. O'Brien at Ito's Funeral.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Mr. O'Brien, the American ambassador at Tokio, was instructed by the state department to attend the funeral of the late Prince Ito today as the official representative of the United States.

SPOKE IN PARABLES

How the President Evaded a Ticklish Question.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 4.—President Taft's speech at Capitol park here was based on the relations between the north and the south. He was interrupted by one of his auditors.

"We all love you," the man shouted. The President paused a moment, chuckled quietly and said: "Well, you remember that old quotation, 'Perhaps it was right to dissemble your love, but why did you kick me downstairs?'"

It was five minutes before the 5,000 or 6,000 people could take their hands off their sides and the President could make himself heard. "I am quite aware," he went on, "that in addressing an Alabama audience I am talking to one that, while perhaps it likes me—at least I hope it does—it feels that the interest of the country requires the selection of some other candidate."

The first question fired at the President when he entered Alabama was this one: "How do you stand on the prohibition amendment?" Meaning the proposed prohibition amendment to the Alabama state constitution. The state has now one of the most stringent prohibition laws in the union.

When it came to this the President fell back on an old fable, "I am not an Alabamian," said he, "and you remember that time when Reynard, the fox, was invited in to decide a question between the lion and some other powerful animal. He had a cold and could not smell. I must take a subject not quite so red hot."

Beside the speech in Capitol park, the President took breakfast in the Country club and viewed a big parade from the latter's veranda, among which was a number of confederate veterans.

Later he shook hands with them all and one said: "You, sah, have conquered the secessionists, the Ku-Klux and the cranky Democrats."

"That is good," said the President, with a smile.

Blood Poisoning Ensued.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 4.—Elmer E. Harding, owner of the Harding Cement block works, who was burned in the explosion in his office last Thursday, which cost the life of Harry J. May, inventor and vice president of the Laporte Stone company, is dead at the Holy Family hospital of blood poisoning.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 4.—John McCurdy, the Canadian aviator, has in the last month at Baddeck, N. S., made fifty successful flights in his new aerodrom. On Monday he flew fourteen miles in twenty-one minutes

What Others Say About Elections

CONNERSVILLE.

(Connersville Examiner, D.)

The Democratic victory yesterday was not a party victory, but a victory of the independent voters of Connersville, who threw aside party, for the time, to vote for the men and the candidates who represented the policy which they believed was for the best interests of the city.

(Connersville News, R.)

After election explanations are usually futile, but it can be said that there were many conditions in no wise to the discredit of Mr. Wiles that contributed to his defeat. It is not necessary to enumerate them for they are quite well understood, generally.

From expressions of some of Mr. Wiles enemies, yesterday and today, he was punished for daring to do right for performing acts which the laws of the State required of him. It was openly boasted yesterday that twenty-one votes "in a bunch" were cast against Wiles by parties whom Wiles had prosecuted in a gambling case. Another man was bragging before the polls closed that he had worked for a "solid month" and got five votes in the box besides his own to down him because Wiles had prosecuted him in a game warden case..

Others who had been prosecuted for keeping unlicensed dogs were on Allen's trail and many of the drunks whom he was instrumental in sending to the stone pile or the jail were doing willing duty for his opponent yesterday.

SHELBYVILLE.

(Shelbyville Democrat.)

Never since the incorporation of Shelbyville as a city has such a stinging rebuke been administered the organization of a political party as was given to the ticket selected by the Republican gang in Tuesday's battle of the ballots.

The taxpayers of this city are heartily disgusted with the extravagances of the present Republican administration and they showed their resentment in no uncertain tones.

The Democrat is jubliant over two results of yesterday's election: The fact that the party was so successful, and the fact that both political organizations kept their clean election agreement. The Democrat makes the prediction that the good citizenship of Shelbyville will, in the future, unite to prevent either or both political parties from corrupting the electorate.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

For a few hours Wednesday morning there were rumors to the effect that the election of Edward Clark, Republican, elected as councilman in the First ward, over Wm. Buendert, Democrat, would be contested; that he was only two votes ahead. The report was only a rumor. There were several votes thrown out — 7 being Democratic votes and 2 Republican. Clark's plurality was found [illegible] des counting the 9 bal- [illegible] t. Even if these were [illegible] k would be 5 votes to "the good."

GREENSBURG.

(Greensburg News, R.)

J. E. Mendenhall has the ability to make a good mayor if radical partisanship does not control him. Da. Batterton will make a good clerk, Smith Bussell, Wes Lanius and O. G. Miller all go in with former experience as councilmen, and with the others selected, are honorable business men, so we do not predict a disaster to our city.

The predictions of the News made at 3 o'clock Tuesday, prepared our readers for the notice today that it was a "dog fall" in this city, with the Democrats on top, as they get the mayor, councilman in first and fourth wards and one councilman-at-large, thus giving them control of the city. The Republicans get the clerk, councilman from second and third wards and one councilman-at-large. The causes of defeat of the Republican ticket are too well known to need repeating here.

GREENFIELD.

(Greenfield Tribune, R.)

Mr. Myers, the new Republican mayor elect, is a young business man, who stands four square with the very best class of citizens, as was evidenced by the result of the election. He did not get the vote of the men who elected him by promise except to assure them of a square deal and a clean, honest and business-like administration. Mr. Myers' position on the temperance question is well established, as he made it known in the recent local option campaign. He stands firm for law enforcement and temperance. The latter was no doubt an issue in this campaign, which won for him not only the Republican vote, but Democratic and Prohibitionist votes as well, otherwise he would not have been able to overcome the normal Democratic majority.

NEW CASTLE.

(New Castle Times, D)

Tuesday's election in New Castle was in no sense a partisian victory. It was distinctly a citizens' victory. While the Democrats of the town are naturally jubilant over securing the election of half the offices for candidates on their ticket, they do not forget that it required some Republican votes to accomplish that end. On strict party lines New Castle is Republican by a safe majority and no Democrat will claim that Tuesday's result was caused by party politics.

No one on the Democratic ticket sought the nomination, but the strongest men were sought in each ward and for the office for marshal and treasurer. It was a case of the offices seeking the men, which is the surest way of securing efficient administration of public affairs.

(New Castle Courier, R.)

The municipal election is a thing of the past, and whether for weal or for woe the political future of New Castle is settled for the next four years, or so long as it shall continue to be an incorporated town.

The result may be characterized as a "stand-off," a "dog-fall" or a "square divide," but not a "landslide." A Republican marshal, clerk and three trustees as against a Democratic treasurer and three trustees is as nearly an equal divide as was possible.

More than one cause contributed to the success of the Democratic candidates, andnone political, for no questions of that kind were in issue or discussed. An analysis of the vote indicates very clearly that the voters exercised their personal judgment as to the fitness or qualifications of candidates.

The Kramer skating rink will be open tonight, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night.

The film at the Palace theater will be "The Story of a Bank Note" which tells a good dramatic story. Don Rogers will sing "Sadie Salome go Home," and another one of those "popular, sentimental ragtime pieces" called "Kiss Me Kid."

The Star-Grand offers one of the Edison comedy subjects tonight entitled "Their Social Education." The story is from the pen of Edward W. Townsend, which relates in humorous and interesting vein the manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Brown acquire a social education and lost it again. Mr. Townsend has provided a story which is built upon a delightful contrast—the contrast of the plain American with the artificial manners of the effete aristocracy of the old world. And the Edison company has provided types to bring out these contrasts as beautifully as they have been shown in the famous Gibson pictures. The picture is full of jollity and quaint types. Earl Robertson will sing "Stingy Kid."

TRADITIONAL PIG ROAST WAS HELD

Rushville Commandery No. 49 Conferred Red Cross Degree on 3 Candidates Last Night.

IMPROMPTU SPEECHES MADE

Over fifty Sir Knights sat down to the long table—and the roast pig in the center, in the Masonic temple last night. The occasion was the conferring of the Red Cross degree on three candidates by the Rushville Commandery No. 49. The conferring of the degrees was a very small matter compared to the after part when the traditional pig roast was pulled off. A few impromptu speeches were made during the course of the banquet. A few visitors were present from the surrounding cities.

OLD PUBLICATION PRIZED VERY MUCH

Dr. W. S. Coleman Has a Medical Book Published in London January 2, 1653.

IS AN AGED FAMILY RELIC

Dr. W. S. Coleman has a book which was published January 2, 1653. It is an old medical work and is prized very highly by him as it is an old relic in the family. He keeps it tucked away in a drawer away from the light and shows it only to his very special friends. Each time the old publication is taken from its hiding place it is threatened with extermination as it is just ready to fall to pieces. The aged book was written by Nichlos Culpeper, who was an authority on medicine at that time. It was published by W. Churchill at Black Swan, Pater Noster row, England. The work is written very crudely and expresses only about half what it means.

Dear Sirs:
I took my Blue Suit down to a Tacoma Tailor to get it pressed and when I went to get it he said. ''May I ask who made this suit.'' I replied that it certainly was and he again said ''It's a mighty nifty suit for a ready-made.'' Now believe me O.P.C.H. I agree with him.

CHAPTER VI.

INTO THE FOG AGAIN.

PRESENTLY she spoke, still playing softly.

"My father was an American, my mother Italian. But I have lived in Europe nearly all my life. There! You have more of my history than I intended telling you." The music went dreamily.

"I knew it! Who but an American woman would have the courage to do what you are doing tonight? Who but one of mine own countrywomen would trust me so wholly and accept me so frankly for what I am—an American gentleman?"

"Softly!" she warned. "You will dig a pit for your vanity."

"No I am an American gentleman, and I am proud of it, though this statement in your ears may have a schoolboy ring."

"A nobility in this country? Impossible!"

"Not the kind you find in the Almanach de Gotha. I speak of the nobility of the heart and the mind." He was very much in earnest now.

"Indeed!" The music stopped, and she turned. She regarded his earnestness with favor. He continued:

"I have traveled much. I have found noblemen everywhere, in all climes, and also I have found beasts. Oh, I confess that my country is not wholly free from the beast! But the beast here is a beast—shunned, discredited, outcast. On the other side, if he be mentioned in the Almanach, they give him sashes and decorations. And they credit us with being money mad! It is not true."

"But, if you are not money mad, why these great fortunes?" dubiously.

"At a certain age a fortune in this country doubles itself without any effort on the part of the owner. Few of us marry for money, and when we do we at least have the manhood to keep the letter of our bargain."

"And when you marry?" she queried.

"Well, it is generally the woman we love. Dowries are not considered. There is no social law which forbids a dowerless girl to marry a dowerless man," laughing. "But over there it is always and eternally a business contract simply. You know that."

"Yes, a business contract," listlessly.

"But they talk of nobility on the other side. That is it; they talk, talk—Italy, France, Germany! Why, I had rather be the son of an English farmer than a prince on the continent. And I had rather be what I am than the greatest nobleman in England."

"Go on, go on! I like it. What do you call it—jingo?" she laughed.

"Call it what you will. Look at the men we produce. Three or four hundred years ago Europe gave us great poets, great artists, great soldiers, great churchmen and great rascals. I admire a great rascal when he is a Napoleon, a Talleyrand, a Machiavelli. But a petty one! We have no art, no music, no antiquity, but we have a race of gentlemen. The old country is not breeding them nowadays."

"Signora, dinner is served," the maid announced.

"Signora!" thought Hillard.

"After you, Mr. Hillard," she said.

He bowed and passed on before her, but not till he had passed did he understand the maneuver. To follow her would have been nothing less than the temptation to pluck at the strings of her mask. Would he have touched it? He could not say.

That dinner! Was he in New York? Was it not Bagdad, the bottle and the genii? Had he ever, even in his most romantic dreams, expected to turn a page so charming, so enchanting or so dangerous to his peace of mind, a game of magical hide and seek?

And she? A whim, a fantastic, unaccountable whim—the whim of a woman seeking forgetfulness, not counting the cost nor caring, simply a whim.

On the little table was a Tuscany brass lamp of three wicks, fed by olive oil. It was sufficient to light the table, but the rest of the room was sunk in darkness. He half understood that there was a definite purpose in this semi-illumination. She had no wish that he should by chance recognize anything familiar in this house.

"May I ask you one question?" he asked.

"No," promptly. There was something in his eyes that made her grow wary of a sudden.

"Then I shan't ask it. I shall not ask you if you are married."

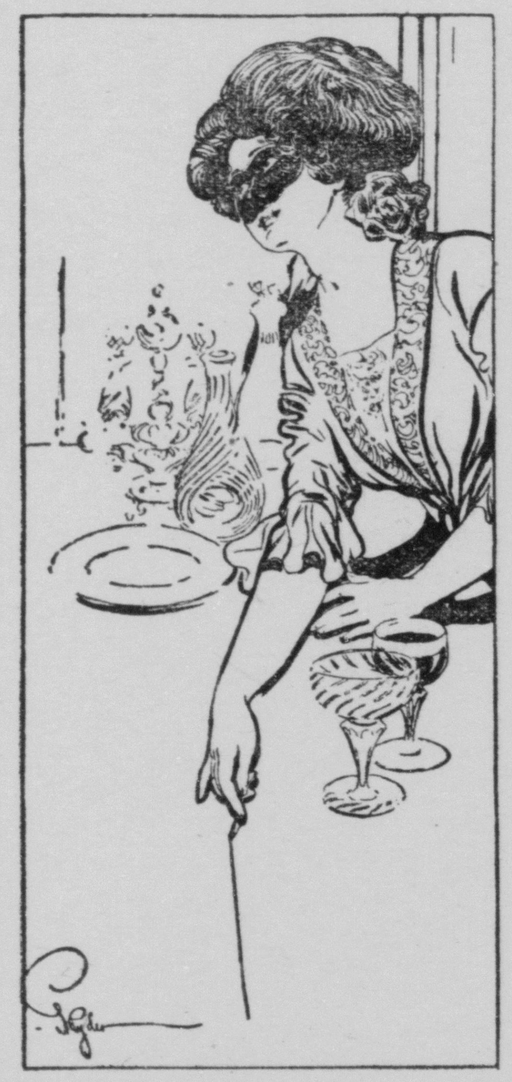
"And I shall not say one way or the other."

She smiled, and he laughed quietly.

A running conversation; a fencing match with words and phrases; time after time she touched him, but with all his skill he could not break through her guard.

"And that interesting dissertation on the American gentleman?" she said icily.

"That's the trouble with posing as a moralist. One must live up to the precepts. Would you believe me if I told you that at the age of three and thirty I am still heart whole?"



She deliberately drew a line across the center of the table.

She parried, "I trust you will not spoil that excellent record by making love to me." She reached for the matches, touched off one, watched it burn for a moment, extinguished it and then deliberately drew a line across the center of the tablecloth.

"Now, what might that represent?" he asked curiously.

"A line, Mr. Hillard. The moment you cross that line that moment you leave this house. On guard!"

"Come, that is not brave. You can retreat till your shoulders touch the mat, but I must stand this side of the line, unable to reach you. And you have the advantage of the mask besides. You are not a fair fencer."

"The odds should be in my favor. I am a woman. My wrist is not so strong as yours."

"Physically, of course, I may pass the line, to reach the salt, for instance. Will that be against the rules? You have put temptation in my path."

"Bid Satan get behind thee."

"I wish I knew the color of your eyes. Behind those holes I see nothing but points of fire, no color."

"They are blue. But supposing I wear this mask because my face is dreadfully scarred?"

"Vanity, yes; but scars, never. At least never so deep as you yourself can make. You wear that mask but out of mercy to me."

Once she rose and approached the window, slyly raising the mask and breathing deeply of the cold air which rushed in through the crevices. When she turned she found that he, too, had risen. He was looking at the steins, one of which he held in his hand. Moreover, he returned and set the stein down beside his plate.

"Tell me, why do you do that?" There was an anxious note in her voice.

"I have an idea. But let us proceed with the dinner. This salad"—

"I am more interested in the idea." She pushed aside the salad and took a sip of the ruby burgundy. Had he discovered something?

"May I smoke?" he asked.

"By all means."

He lighted a cigarette and put the case near the line.

"Do you enjoy a cigarette?"

"Sometimes," she answered. "But the idea"—

"Will you not have one?" He moved the case still nearer to the line.

She reached out a firm round white arm.

"One moment," he said. "Let us understand each other thoroughly."

"What do you mean?" her arm poised in midair.

"To touch a cigarette you must cross the line to this side."

She withdrew her arm slowly.

"I shall not smoke. If I crossed the line I should establish a dangerous precedent. And I must have that idea."

"The mirror over the piano confused me. I have seen it somewhere before. Then there is that old copy of Botticelli. The frame is familiar, but I could not place it. This stein, however!" He laughed. The laughter was boyish, even triumphant.

"Well, that stein?" She was now leaning across the table, her fingers tense on the cloth.

"I bought that stein two seasons ago. This is the Sandfords' place, and you are the veiled lady who has been riding Mrs. Sandford's favorite hunter in the park."

They stood up simultaneously. In a matter of this sort he was by far the quicker. In an instant he had caught her by the wrist, at the same time drawing her irresistibly round the table toward him.

"I must see your face. I shall never be at peace if I do not."

"Certainly you will never know any peace if you do. Be careful."

His free hand stole toward the strings of her mask. She moved not. His face was very close to hers now. If only she would struggle! He released her wrist.

To be Continued.

Causes Debility

Here are Facts Backed up by a Strong Guarantee.

Catarrh causes debility. In our opinion, most people suffering from general debility have catarrh. Such cases of debility cannot be completely cured by medicine not designed to eradicate catarrh. In every case where our remedy fails to give satisfaction we will not charge a cent for the medicine employed during the trial. Now, surely no one should hesitate to believe us to put our claim to a practical test under such conditions. We will take all the risk: no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

We make these statements and this offer because we know and have time and again proved that Rexall Mucu-Tone rarely fails to do as we claim. It is not a cure-all prescribed to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. It is intended for one purpose, i. e., to cure catarrh by assailing the disease condition in a reasonable, scientific way, which is to employ agents that have been found to have the tonic and alternative power to correct faulty metabolism (tissue change) and to stimulate and help nature overcome the cause or causes of catarrh. This being done, appetite increases, nutrition improves, weight is gained, comfort of body is attained and life's work taken up with the zest natural to the perfectly healthy individual.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone. Follow directions and take it regularly and consistently for a reasonable length of time. Then, if you are not satisfied, come back and tell us and the money you paid for the treatment will be returned without any argument whatever.

Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 a bottle. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store. Lytle's Drug Store.

SAGE AND SULPHUR
Made Her look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

State of New York } ss. Rochester, N. Y.
County of Monroe }

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and still use it, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy.

MME. STEINHEIL A FINE WITNESS

French Woman Proves Her Ability On Stand.

PARRIED COURT'S THRUSTS

With Lightning-Like Rapidity, Woman on Trial for Murder of Husband and Mother Answers Judge's Penetrating Questions, Creating a Most Profound Impression Upon Her Auditors—She Needed No Advocate and Made Every Point With the Utmost Possible Effect.

Paris, Nov. 4.—Innocent or guilty, Mme. Steinheil will not need to reproach herself for the manner in which she endured her four hours' ordeal on the witness stand. She parried with lightning-like rapidity every thrust of the presiding judge, who, in the French assize court, acts as the prosecuting attorney. Once she drove him from his line of questioning by the scornful way in which she said: "You seem to take me for a common street walker." She moved the audience to a murmur of agreement when she replied to the judge's comments on her contradictions before the magistrate who conducted the preliminary inquiry, saying: "When a poor woman has been for seven hours a day for days before a magistrate, who keeps harrassing her with questions and never ceasing to repeat, 'I know you are guilty; you killed your husband and mother,' when your mind has been tortured and your spirit broken, are contradictions unnatural?"

MME. STEINHEIL.

When Mme. Steinheil appeared in court dressed in black and wearing a small toque, with a long black veil behind, a feeling of disappointment went through the male audience. Was this the beautiful "Meg," the original of all the seductive portraits that had appeared in the newspapers? Surely a year's imprisonment and her anxious position had had their effect. Her eyes alone retained their wondrous beauty. After she had conducted her case for a short time, however, her old-time charm reasserted itself, and it was not wondered how this lowly-born woman had achieved her position in Paris. She was, in turn, beseeching, imploring and menacing. Her silvery voice was now full of pathos and again vibrated with indignation. She needed no advocate. She made all her points with the utmost possible effect. She taunted the prosecution for not daring to confront her with her lover, Borderel, whose evidence is the government's strongest argument. Her indignant, "I have never sold myself," made Judge Valles confess that she was no money leech.

M. Brieux in his play, "The Red Robe," has not argued more powerfully for a change in the French form of investigating crime than did Mme. Steinheil. "If you seek light," she exclaimed, "why not have investigations public? This is my first opportunity to publicly face the charges against me. I will speak."

It must be said that the dominant thought of the audience was: "What a splendid witness!"

The feeling would not be dismissed that she was not as she declared sustained by the thought of her innocence. It was felt that she was playing a role, not written by another and learned, but one imagined by herself and acted with superb ability. The first day's testimony brought events up to the dinner on the night of the crime.

Promises to Make Shortage Good.

New York, Nov. 4.—Charles L. Warriner, the local treasurer of the Big Four at Cincinnati, who was brought here to the office of President Brown of the New York Central practically under arrest for embezzlement to explain why his accounts were upward of $100,000 short, has gone back home after giving his story of why the shortage appears. The statement is made that he will pay up every penny.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY IN SESSION

Several Indiana Bank Cases Under Investigation.

AN UNUSUALLY BUSY SESSION

More Cases of Alleged Violation of the Federal Banking Laws Are to Be Taken Up Than at Any Previous Session of the Grand Jury for the Indiana District—Indianapolis, Tipton, Auburn, Terre Haute and Fort Wayne All Have Cases Under Consideration.

Indianapolis, Nov. 4.—Investigating into alleged violations of various federal laws, the federal grand jury has begun upon its grind. The present session of the grand jury is to have presented to it more cases of alleged violations of the federal banking laws than any preceding grand jury for this district. Probably the cases that are of the most interest in this city are those concerning Max P. Emmerich, a former bookkeeper at the Capital National bank of this city; Harry C. Prinzler and Paul C. Gall, the latter a well known politician and cigar man of this city. By a system of manipulation of the books of the bank, it is said, Emmerich succeeded in making way with a considerable sum of money. The defalcations of Emmerich were not discovered until he had left the city. He was arrested at Jacksonville, Fla., and brought back to this city, where he was released on $5,000 bond. Gall and Prinzler were also released on bonds of $5,000 each. The charge against Emmerich was of having made false entries in the books of the bank. Prinzler was charged with having conspired with Emmerich and Gall is charged with having aided and abetted Emmerich.

Other cases to be presented to the grand jury that will be of great interest throughout the state will be those involving Elbert W. Shirk, who was president of the First National bank of Tipton and prominent as a northern Indiana and Chicago capitalist, and William H. Marker and Noah R. Marker, formerly cashier and assistant cashier of the Tipton bank. The total shortage at this bank was about $103,000, and just where all this money went has not yet been disclosed. Noah R. Marker, who was assistant cashier, was alleged to have embezzled $50,000, which is said to have disappeared from the strongbox of the institution. He had disappeared from Tipton several days, and when he returned he said that he had been on a fishing trip, and he disclaimed any knowledge of this missing money.

He was charged with embezzlement of the funds of the bank. William Marker was charged with having made false entries in a report to the controller of the conditions of the affairs of the bank. The charge against Shirk is of misapplication of $23,000 of the bank's funds, but he asserted that this money had been paid to him to reimburse him for loans he had made to the institution, and Marker had failed to make proper entries of the matter. He and members of his family owning the bank made good the bank's shortage and the bank is on its feet again and in full operation. Shirk was released on a $20,000 bond and the Markers were released on bonds of $10,000 each.

Another case is that concerning Frank H. Nicolai, who was assistant cashier of the City National bank of Auburn, and who disappeared one day, leaving a shortage of about $5,000, it is alleged. Before leaving he had purchased a revolver and his friends feared he had committed suicide, but he returned in a day or two somewhat the worse for wear, but with no bullet wounds, having passed the intervening time in the neighborhood of town.

He was arrested, charged with having embezzled funds of the bank, and was released on bond of $3,500. This does not exhaust the bank cases that will be presented to the grand jury for investigation, however, for there also will be presented the case against James H. Phillips, who was bookkeeper of the Terre Haute National bank, and who is charged with embezzlement of $15,000, and who was released on $5,000 bond, and the case of E. N. Detzer, who was teller of the First National bank of Ft. Wayne, and who was charged with embezzlement of $7,000, and who was released on bond of $5,000.

Caught on the Track.

Carmi, Ill., Nov. 4.—Jonas Leasure, age sixty-five, lost his life in this city because of his appetite for coffee. Leasure had been visiting a sick daughter and on his way home crossed the Big Four railroad tracks to get a cup of coffee. After drinking it he attempted to get across the track and was struck by an engine and instantly killed.

More Heroes Rewarded.

Pittsburg, Nov. 4.—The Carnegie hero fund commission has just awarded fifty medals and $34,650. Fourteen awards went to persons in Athens, O., where the Hocking river overflowed its banks March 14, 1907, and about fifty people were saved.

There isn't anything so annoying or so painful nor is there anything quite so hard to get rid of as piles. POSSE SLAYS NEGRO

West Virginians Aroused Over Brutal Attack on Defenseless Couple.

Sutton, W. Va., Nov. 4.—Three negroes visited the home of Charles Lockwood, a farmer living at Exchange, near here, and taking Lockwood from his home tied him to a tree, where he was given a severe horse whipping. Then they entered the home and dragged out Mary Lockwood, his wife, and attempted a criminal assault upon her. Charles Lewis, one of the negroes supposed to be connected with the affair, was shot and instantly killed by members of the posse when they came on him in hiding a few miles from the home. Lewis refused to surrender and started to run, when a volley was fired and he fell dead, with fifteen bullets in his body. Lockwood is in a serious condition and may die from his injuries, while his wife also sustained severe injuries in battling with the negroes.

NICARAGUA IS NOT OBSERVING TREATY

State Department Hears Word from Central America.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Rumors continue to reach the state department that President Davila of Honduras is aiding President Zelaya of Nicaragua in defending himself against the present revolutionary movement in behalf of Estrada, who recently was named president of a provisional government consisting of a section of Nicaragua lying on the Atlantic side.

While these reports are vague, they indicate that the Honduran government is violating the treaty signed at Washington in December, 1907. So far the state department has taken no action in the matter, but it is probable that the United States and Mexico, who were instrumental in bringing about the Washington peace conference, will make vigorous representations to Davila in order to maintain neutrality in the revolution in Nicaragua.

WOKE UP TOO LATE

The Town of Olean Napped Through Election Season.

Moores Hill, Ind., Nov. 4.—The little town of Olean, with a population of five hundred, in the northern part of Dearborn county, it appears, will be without a town board or town officials of any kind. The present town board forgot all about an election until two or three days ago. When it woke up, it was too late to nominate even one ticket. According to the present law, the town trustees now in office go out with the expiration of the term for which they were elected and not, as formerly, when their terms extended until their successors were qualified.

In the village of Polstead, Suffolk, stands a famous oak, which the rector has proved by researches to be thousand years old. It has a girth of thirty-six feet, and has always been known as the Gospel-oak, as under it the first Christian missionaries preached to the heathen Saxons thirteen centuries ago.

Small Checks Allowed

An article published broadcast over the country a few weeks ago, to the effect that checks could not be issued for sums of less than $1 has caused much discussion, and it might be well to state for the benefit of those who have not previously seen retractions of the article that no such order will go into effect. The mistake was made by an official in the government offices at Washington, who misinterpreted a section of the statutes. The original article was corrected later.

Checks for less than $1 can legally be issued. The statute which was originally quoted related to certain forms of promise to pay orders that were floated for indefinite periods to take the place of money, but checks were not included in the list of prohibitory papers.

Paris Models

The makers of Wooltex make no garments which are common either in style, workmanship or material.

Before the Wooltex label goes into a garment—either coat or suit, skirt or dress—that particular garment must be correct in style, superior in material, right in workmanship.

The simplest Wooltex garment embodies the best lines of the latest Paris models.

The utmost that is possible must be done before a garment is good enough to bear the label:

$50,000.00 simply that every Wooltex garment—coat, skirt, suit or dress—may possess elegance, charm and refinement which in ordinary garments is lacking.

Wooltex garments embody the best that is known in Paris.
